Movement Chain (Memory Game)

Setup:

5 teams

Each team forms a semi-circle.

Create some space
where your team
can perform their
movement chain (plenty of room to move!)

Movement Chain (Memory Game)

How to play

First Person Starts: On
each team, one person
performs a simple
movement (e.g., clap-spin-stomp)

Next Person Adds: The next person repeats all previous movements in order, then adds one.

Continue until the last person has performed
the entire chain.

Winner

The last person in the chain
must perform the full sequence
from memory.

without
mistakes

Which function is not differentiable
at 0?

$f(x) = |x|$ or $f(x) = x^2$

HISTORY

History of the PCI Program

Early Years

1987

- NSBE introduced the PCI program to stimulate interest in science, technology, engineering, and mathematics (STEM) among pre-college students.
 - Aimed to encourage students in grades K–12 to pursue college degrees in technical fields.

1990

- Building upon the PCI program, NSBE established NSBE Jr. chapters.
- These chapters served as formal vehicles through which NSBE collegiate and alumni members encourage and support pre-college students interested in STEM fields.

Summer Engineering Experience for Kids (SEEK) Program

- NSBE launched the SEEK program in Washington, D.C. SEEK is a free, three-week summer initiative designed to provide underrepresented students in grades 3–5 with high-quality learning opportunities in engineering.
 - Aimed to ignite interest in STEM fields through hands-on, team-based engineering design projects led by NSBE collegiate members.
- Was established using a $1-million grant from Battelle.

2015

- The SEEK program had expanded to 16 cities across the United States, reflecting its growing impact and popularity.
- The program continued to engage students in team-based engineering activities, fostering a passion for STEM from an early age.

Recent Developments

2019

- The SEEK program marked its 13th year, with sessions held in multiple cities nationwide.
 - At this point, SEEK had served nearly 23,000 students in 25 cities.
- Major sponsors in recent years included Bechtel, Chevron, Dow, Ford, GM, Nissan, Northrop Grumman and Shell

Present Day

- NSBE continues to prioritize its PCI and SEEK programs, offering resources, mentorship, and hands-on experiences to pre-college students.
- These initiatives remain integral to NSBE's mission of increasing the number of Black engineers and supporting their academic and professional success.

ACTIVITY

The Situation

Anthony scammed billionaire Sharan out of all his money

Fellow friends Tana and Sarena gave him 50k to help him out

In order to make the billions, back he needs to invest in an idea from you

Thing is Sharan only believes in democracy.

So he called upon his friend Ricardo to produce a show to determine the best engineering product or service idea.

+twist

Welcome to Election

-Split into Tank groups

-Plan out your pitch to your voters. Campaign anyway you want

-Presentation must be in a skit/song/entertainment format. Anything less will cause the show's ratings to drop.

-10 minutes to plan. 2 minutes to present.

-Be creative and Realistic

Election Tank Rules

It's best not to make something up in a pitch. If a judge (and only a judge) calls you out for advertising something that isn't possible, then you're due for point deductions. Although, you can try to see if

Be creative. Unfortunately we can only think of so much while on a time limit. But why would anyone buy Sharan's product if there are already multiple better versions of it.

Do anything it takes to win votes. You're not limited to only your presentation. (Talking to voters, scoping out their interests, ensuring Sharan that his money is in good hands)

Voting rubric

0-20 points - Presentation

0-10 points - Group participation (includes in and out of presentation)

0-10 points - Idea

0-10 points - Realisticness

0-10 points - Creativity
